

Attalie Anne's Things I Said EP

Attalie's debut extended play record released November 8, 2021, features five original songs performed by Attalie on the ukulele. The album is primarily acoustic, with layering of other instruments and sounds.

TRACK 1 INTRO (0:11)	STORY: There is a vintage phone theme happening throughout the EP. It is inspired by the final track, Jupiter , which has a fade out to a phone call's busy signal. During the final stages of the album's development, Attalie decided it would be fun to kick off the EP with a one-sided phone call introducing Things I Said .
TRACK 2 THINGS I SAID (2:40)	STORY: Attalie describes Things I Said as a "teenager with a crush, in song form." It's all about the feeling of embarrassment following a conversation with your sweetheart. "You just feel like squealing and giggling, but like, you also want to DIE because you can't stop thinking about all the fumbles and stupid things you said. Trust me -- I know ALL about this feeling," Attalie said. SOUND NOTES: Featuring solo ukulele strummed with a lighthearted, folksy vibe that imbues the song with a candied, sweetheart feeling.
TRACK 3 ABOUT YOU (3:09)	STORY: About You is co-written by Attalie and her mother, about the cycles and effects of addiction. Attalie said, "While this song explores some dark and heavy emotions, I feel like it leads me to a place of light and peace where I find strength as I let go and look up -- trusting in a higher power." SOUND NOTES: Layering of acoustic guitar, ukulele and synth creates a full sound to carry Attalie's darker, moody vocals towards a lighter release of emotions with the final breath.
TRACK 4 BROKEN LIKE US (2:13)	STORY: Broken Like Us may seem at first like a sad song, but Attalie explains it is really a song of healing, a realization that nobody is perfect and everybody is broken. "I've just had to accept it, say, 'What can I do?' and move on," Attalie states with a shrug. SOUND NOTES: A quick-paced song with a simple sound profile featuring clean ukulele and vocals that are easy to sing along with.
TRACK 5 OKAY (3:37)	STORY: Okay is an inspirational song reassuring that God loves and has a plan for everyone! While working on her EP, Attalie broke her leg falling out of a treehouse. She ended up having two surgeries at Phoenix Children's Hospital to reconstruct her ankle. "Getting through months of that recovery and in many other situations, I find myself humming this tune," Attalie said. "The chorus lyrics always come to mind when things get tough. I hope this song can be that for you too." SOUND NOTES: If you sent a gospel choir to Hawaii, they would come back with this song. Very stripped down and raw with just vocals and ukulele. The vocal layering at the chorus is representative of divine help that comes.
TRACK 6 JUPITER (3:35)	STORY: Jupiter is a daydreamy, dance track with a fun spacey theme and a throw-back 1950's vibe, the product of Attalie playing around in the studio one afternoon trying to learn new software. She had no intention of releasing it, but friends and family begged her to include Jupiter . Attalie said, "I love how it captures the innocence and wonder of young love with a dose of ska that will get you singing along and tapping your toe." SOUND NOTES: Attalie's Aunt gave her a frog-shaped, guiro-type percussion instrument as a gift from Brazil years ago, and she loved to play with it. Attalie used it to create the high-pitched chirping sounds throughout the track.
